The International Exhibition of 1862 or Great London Exposition, was a world's fair. It was held from 1 May to 1 November, 1862 in South Kensington, London on a site that now houses museums including the Natural History Museum and the Science Museum. The Australasian Steam Navigation Company came into being by NSW Act of Parliament in 1850. Formally known as Hunter River Steam Navigation Company, the directors saw potential for growth with the aim of serving Australasia as a major shipping concern, thus the formation of the new company. In 1887 they merged with their rival, the Queensland Steam Shipping Company, becoming Australasian United Steam Navigation Company. The AUSN Co was acquired by P&O in 1914.

$5,000

John Ernst Seppelt, born 1813 in Silesia, came to Australia in 1850 with his wife and children and settled in Klemzig (South Australia). In 1851 he built Seppeltsfield where he initially grew tobacco, wheat and vines. He constructed a winery plant in the mid 1860s which after his death in 1868 was taken over by his eldest son Benno. By 1875 Benno Seppelt had an estate of 560 acres and had enlarged the cellars, in 1877 he built a new distillery. By 1900 the estate extended to 1500 acres and had subsidiary industries including vinegar, cordial, liqueur and perfume production. On his retirement in 1916 his son Oscar Benno Seppelt (1873-1963) took over as managing director and continued the expansion of the business purchasing Chateau Tanunda and in 1918 the Great Western vineyards in Victoria as well as acquiring land in Barooga, N.S.W. and commencing winemaking in Rutherglen, Victoria. Oscar Benno Seppelt was also involved in trade organisations, representing the South Australian Vinegrowers Association at the first meeting of the Federal Viticultural Council of Australia in 1918. He was president of the council 1938-39, chairman of the Wholesale Winemakers' and Brandy Distillers' Association 1931-39 as well as being president of the South Australian Chamber of Manufactures 1930-32 and of the Associated Chamber of Manufactures of Australia 1933.

$1,000

Christian Ludwig Qwist (Qvist)(1818-1877) has long been regarded as one of Australia's finest goldsmiths. He was born in Denmark in 1818 and came to Australia at the time of the gold rushes. From 1854 to 1860, he was working as a studio photographer and artist in Sandhurst (Bendigo). During this period he practised his craft as a goldsmith in McCrae Street, Bendigo. Detailed descriptions of presentation items, and of commissions that he undertook from 1856 to 1860, are to be found in the "Bendigo Advertiser". The "Advertiser" of 24 April 1857, described Qwist's workshop as follows: "...Many persons in the colonies are apt to imagine that no article of any consequence, especially of dress or jewellery, can be obtained or made so well and tastefully in a provincial town as in one of the great metropolitan cities, but a visit to the shop of Mr C.L. Qvist (sic) Jeweller, of McCrae Street, will speedily remove such scepticism... A visit to Mr Qvist's bijouterie will most likely satisfy the most fastidious that they need not go far out of Sandhurst to get jewels and other articles of adornment manufactured to their order." Most of Qwist's work was made in gold, befitting the goldfield town. Also in 1857, Qwist was commissioned to make the Seal of the Corporation of Sandhurst (Bendigo). Hawkins (1990) has queried whether Qwist had found both occupations necessary in order to maintain a reasonable standard of living. Qwist possibly sensed a different challenge in the pioneering field of photography in the 1850s. There is later evidence to suggest that Qwist was by no means "well off". C.L. Qwist was in Sydney by 1861, and in that year married Anna Price. Eventually Qwist worked in association with Hogarth during the period 1861 to 1863. By 1864, C.L. Qwist was established in his own workshop at 15 Hunter Street from 1864 to 1874. During this time he was listed as a manufacturing jeweller and goldsmith. Qwist's reputation as a goldsmith rests on the fine work produced in Bendigo, on the noteworthy Sydney Cups of 1869 and 1870, and on his silver mounted emu egg claret jugs (Hawkins 1990). The latter are to be seen in the collection of the National Gallery of Victoria, Melbourne. Qwist's gold jewellery was displayed at the Paris Exhibition of 1867, and at the Sydney Exhibition of 1870. Regrettably, illustrations of this exhibition jewellery have not been sighted. In Paris, C.L. Qwist exhibited a brooch, a small brooch, a pair of earrings, two bracelets, a buckle and a pair of sleeve links. All were of 18 carat gold and bore "representations emblematical of New South Wales". In Sydney, in 1870, he exhibited "Jewellery and Ornaments in gold and silver". By 1875, the business was trading as Qwist and Clarke, jewellers and watchmakers, then at 17 Hunter Street. Unequivocally, this partnership involved Joseph Clarke of Darling Road, Balmain. The partnership continued until 1877, at which time they were listed as gold and silversmiths. Following Qwists death in the same year, Joseph Clarke traded as a jeweller and goldsmith at Darling Road, Balmain at least until 1882. (Reprinted from "Australian Jewellers Gold & Silversmiths", by K. Cavill, G. Cocks and J. Grace, with kind permission of C.G.C. Gold Pty Ltd, NSW.) This piece is an example of Qwist's early work in Bendigo and is significant in that it is signed "C.L.Qvist", rather than "C.L.Qwist", as on his later work. Qwist's Sydney gold racing cup won by "Mermaid" in 1871 held the world record for a piece of Australian gold or silver for many years after it was sold in 1994. A NSW silver agricultural medal (c.1865) by C.L. Qwist was sold in our auction in April 1999 (see Noble Numismatics, sale No.60, lot 999)

Ireland, Queen Victoria, unofficial retrospective pattern double florin or four shillings, dated 1901, crowned and veiled old head left, by Donald R. Golder, proofs in 925 silver, copper and aluminium bronze, (Krause "Unusual World Coins" X11, 11a, 11b, CV US$165); Edward VII, unofficial pattern double florin or four shillings, dated 1901, 'colonial' crowned and robed bust right, by Donald R. Golder, proofs in 925 silver, copper and aluminium bronze, (Krause "Unusual World Coins" X13, 13a, 13b, CV US$165) (total CV $330). FDC. (2 sets, 6 coins)

Mintage 360 only for each type of Queen Victoria and 425 for each type of Edward VII. These Ireland pattern double florins were inspired by those of Reginald Huth, who instructed John Pinches to produce a small number of patterns to commemorate Queen Victoria's visit to Ireland in 1900. Huth/ Pinches produced a version of Brock's 'old head' portrait of the Queen for the medallic coin's obverse and adopted a cruciform shield design reminiscent of the 1887 double florin for the reverse. The reverse of this 1901 dated pattern combines a crowned Irish harp design, found on the Irish coinage of George III and George IV, with a very detailed quatrefoil design featured on the British pattern florins of 1848.

Greenwich Hospital School, medal for Attainments and Good Conduct in silver together with original, circular, fitted case. Engraved on reverse to William Sullivan 1863. Extremely fine and scarce.

Greenwich Hospital School was a school established for the maintenance and education of the children of seamen happening to be slain or disabled. From 1756 the children wore uniform of 'sailor's dress' with distinctive leather caps. All boys were committed to enter sea service, specifically in the navy after 1848 although later an alternative was the Royal Marines. School life was spartan, regimented and conducted 'at the double' with the boys doing all the chores such as cleaning, cooking, laundry, sewing although this was modified over time. In 1892 the school was renamed the Royal Hospital School.

Anguilla declared independence on July 11, 1967 and seceded from the Federation. Britain refused to accept the declaration and appointed an administrator. In February 1969 they removed the British ties and established a Republic of Anguilla. Britain retook the island and eventually a new Constitution in 1976 established Anguilla as a self-governing British dependent territory. The above issues were authorised by the Anguilla Island Council. Each had been redeemed for ten U.S. dollars. The countermarking was done by a private firm in San Francisco, California.

$400

Ex Tom Hanley Collection and previously acquired from Kozminsky, Melbourne September 17, 1906 for 5/-. The siege of the city of Leyden, in modern day Netherlands, is believed to be the first instance wherein paper money of necessity was used. Although Leyden boasts a wide variety of metallic siege coins from the 1570s, it was here that the first paper siege notes were issued. These "notes" are not notes at all but are, more properly, considered coins. When besieged Leyden exhausted its supply of silver, the coins were made of paper torn from prayer books. Resembling the real thing, this money, struck from coin dies, nevertheless was made of paper. Metallic siege money of Leyden was struck in 1574 from a round coin die onto a diamond shaped silver planchet. As the supply of silver available for coinage dried up during the siege, Leyden continued to mint "coins" made from paper torn from prayer books. These cardboard "coins" became the first paper money to appear in the Western world. Prior to this only the Chinese used paper money. A cardboard coin struck during the Spanish siege of Leyden in 1574 has the arms that consist of a rampant lion with shield and sword. The counterstamp is located at six o'clock. By order of Prince William of Orange, provincial counterstamps were added to all coins in excess of 1/10 daalder. This act increased the value of the coinage in circulation by one eighth, which was then used as a war contribution. The Leyden silver siege coins are known to the Dutch as "klippes" or otherwise as "obsidional" coins, an obsidional coin being defined as "a piece of money issued for use during a siege". Interestingly, this definition would seem to cover both metallic and paper issues. There were more than thirty instances during the Dutch War of Liberation, which necessitated the issuance of this type of emergency money. The typical siege coin was struck from coin dies onto square silver planchets. However by the year 1573 the Dutch defenders were running out of funds with which to support their cause. To alleviate this situation and enable continued resistance against the Spanish, the states of Holland and Zeeland raised funds for the war by increasing the value of silver coinage by 1/8th as a war contribution. Commencing in 1573, every coin in excess of 1/10th daalder was counter-stamped by order of William Prince of Orange with an oval coat-of-arms of its respective province. There are claimed to be eight known specimens of Leyden cardboard money made from coinage dies. They range in value from 5 to 30 stuivers. All are dated 1574. Some have countermarks while others do not. A most interesting numismatic item of great rarity.

New Zealand, cheque No. 101, drawn on the Union Bank of Australia, Nelson, 18 December 1841 for fifty pounds, payer Arthur Wakefield, payee Mr. Charles Heaphy. Small hole in centre, very fine and a rare piece of New Zealand history.
$900

Captain Arthur Wakefield was the second brother of Edward Gibbon Wakefield, founder of The New Zealand Company. He joined the New Zealand Company to lead the new settlement at Nelson. His task was to select a party of settlers, escort them to New Zealand and supervise the growth of the new town. They sailed on the "Whitby" and arrived in Nelson in November 1841. The settlement of Nelson got off to a good start with Capt. Wakefield doing everything he could to promote the orderly development of the colony. Although he seems to have been rather paternal in his attitude to the settlers, he seems also to have been respected and admired. Charles Heaphy was a New Zealand explorer and a recipient of the Victoria Cross. In 1841 he joined Arthur Wakefield on the expedition that lead to the founding of Nelson. From here he took part in several expeditions to explore the north west coast of the South Island of New Zealand. Together with biographical notes on Capt. Arthur Wakefield and Major Charles Heaphy VC and a photograph of the latter.

To protect the surface of the Bi-centennial $10, Note Printing Australia applied a full coating of varnish to both sides. This final coating was applied over an initial protective coating to the signatures - there are three areas when compared to a normal note, but this one is the easiest to identify - when the notes are held to the light at an angle a shiny clear patch is clearly visible over the signatures, on most other notes where the final varnish coat has been applied this patch barely shows.

$1,400

Ex CNG Electronic Internet Sale 108 (lot 90) and coming from the Rudolf Berk Collection. CNG noted that this coin is highly unusual in that it lacks the letters S C, which designates an issue by decree of the Senate (Senatus Consulto). From Republican times, the formula had been used on both silver and bronze coinage, but under the Empire, it was used almost exclusively on the bronze coinage. In fact, imperial bronze coinage without the formula is generally thought to have been issued under special circumstances and under an authority other than the Senate. The ADLOCVT(io) COH(ortium) sestertii are thought to have been a special distribution issue for the Praetorian Guard personally funded out of the emperor's own purse.

ANCIENT GOLD COINS

4391*
Lydia, uncertain king, issued before 561 B.C. and probably c.575 B.C., electrum trite or third stater, (4.69 grams) of Lydian-Milesian (Phoenician standard), probably issued at Sardis, obv. head of roaring lion to right, knob with trace of three rays on forehead, rev. double incuse punch, (S.3398, BMC 7 [p.2], Weidauer Class XVI, SNG Cop. 449-451, ACNAC Rosen 231, ACNAC Dewing 2421-3). Countermark on cheek, very fine and rare.

The find of early electrum as a foundation deposit in the earliest temple at Ephesus included numerous third staters of this type. It also contained some inscribed electrum coins with the non-Greek name `Welwet'. Scholars began identifying this name with Alyattes, king of Lydia. Since then this attribution has been thrown into doubt by the more recent discovery of a parallel name, `Kali', which does not correspond to any known Lydian king. No one really doubts, however that this prolific coinage was issued by the Lydian royal house. The lion's head was the dynastic badge, and this manner of representation, with the herringbone mane and `wart' on nose, was introduced into Greek art from Assyria in the second half of the seventh century B.C. It is one of, if not the earliest example of ancient coinage that utilises a design of some type on the obverse.

Ex Classical Numismatic Group Auction Sale, September 19, 2001 (lot 438). Robert Hepworth "The 4th Century B.C. Magistrate Coinage of the Boiotian Confederacy pp.61-89 (Numisatic Chronicle, Hellenic Numismatic Society, 1998) describes the series as having 97 different reverse varieties noted from 1700 examples recorded from all the sources. The series is divided into four major groups with sub-division within. It is established by die-links and hoard evidence of the approximate order of issue. The series appears to have an annual change of magistrates. This variety is noted by Hepworth as part of Group B2, No.93 in table and as in 379 B.C. (See Hepworth Epaminondas p.39), also known to rarity of 6-20 known examples. Charon was the leader of the successful, nationalist insurrection in Thebes in 379 B.C. (See Hepworth Epaminondas p.39), also known to readers in Celator "Operation Petticoat" (Celator, Vol.8, No.1, January 1994).

$4,000

Ex BCD Collection, LHS NUmismatics, Sale 96, May 8-9, 2006 (lot 1476 with ticket) and is said to have been found in northwest Greece. BCD and LHS noted, for an explanation of the meaning of this extraordinary type, to see L. Lacroix, Les Monnaies de Mantin,e et les traditions arcadiennes, Bull. Ac. R. Belg. 1967, pp. 303-311. Traditionally the figure on the obverse has always been identified as Odysseus or a fisherman, but, as Lacroix shows, it is actually a warrior doing a kind of Pyrrhic dance for which the Mantineans were famous. This would have been a singularly appropriate type to celebrate the refoundation of the city. It was accompanied by Mantinea's first bronzes at the same time,

$250

Ex Samaria Hoard (No.97) and Sotheby, Zurich Sale, October 27-8, 1993 (lot 989 part). This lot gives an opportunity to acquire an example from the famous "Samaria Hoard" published in Meshorer & Qedar "Coinage of Samaria in the Fourth Century BCE", Jerusalem, 1991. Every coin in that hoard is illustrated with enlargements and this hoard together with a few other finds became the basis of establishing the existence of a series in an era never previously recognised in the published literature. The legend which reads Samaria, remains uncertain, whether it means the city, the province or the state, or a combination of these meanings. By c.400 B.C, the Samaritans were still considered Jewish and as such were approached by the Jews of Elephantine. The Samaritan high priests and governors in the 5th and 4th century B.C. in the Elephantine documents bear Jewish names. The final separation between the Samaritans and the Jews probably took place a few years after the Samarian hoard's burial (c.346-5 B.C.). Consequently this small group of coins effectively form part of a collection of Biblical coins.

$150

Neither Martini nor Pangerl have this countermark. It could be slightly barbarous in form but clearly placed on the coin only a decade or two after striking. The countermarked letters seem to mean TIB AV or maybe TIB IMP (Tiberius Augustus or Imperator), The host type coin was widely used and overstruck on Pangerl types 50 and 57. It was in the Germania area that this countermark was applied to circulating worn coinage. The second coin is an issue of Augustus c.18-15 B.C. but is of uncertain magistrate on a dupondius with these countermarks, both countermarks occur on other dupondii. The two countermarks are not reported for a retrograde TI CA and most issues of TI CA and AVG are coupled together, several are noted in the Pangerl collection.

$150

Martini notes the letters which he believes to mean TIB IMP (Tiberius Imperator) and IMP AVG (Imperator Augustus). He notes this issues as struck on generally issues of Augustus or Claudius respectively. Martini places the issue of these types to the period of Caligula and Vespasian and Titus. It was in a Germania area that this countermark was applied to circulating worn coinage. The Pangerl collection contained one example of each of these countermarks on only one coin each. Most issues known are of similar weight.

$250

BMC in its discusion within the footnote to another coin No.391 [page 276] comments, that the coin is "quite clearly exceptional, the head is laureate as on the Roman as but the style seems to be clearly Lugdunum". It is a hybrid being "obverse of the reign of Nero, rev. of the reign of Tiberius". Mattingly further notes as "The chief point of interest is that [it] supports the suggestion made in the [BMC] introduction that the `Divus Augustus Pater' coinage had a particular connexion with Gaul". Needless to say the coin is of exceptional importance and rarity and is only known by a poorer example of this type in the Denmark National collection in Copenhagen.

4712*

RIC Volume I (1st edition) notes the example in Gotha and introduces this as an unusual type, known apparently from single examples. In the RIC second edition a small section at the end of the Nero listing describes Uncertain (Balkan?) Mint. He notes them as an issue with several other coins as semi-official aes which are striking Latin - legended coins in a Greek - speaking area and probably in the frontier area occupied by the legions in Upper and Lower Moesia which lay far from other aes mints (a semi-official military mint). MacDowall in Num. Chron. 1960 (pp.106 ff) illustrates the Gotha example (cited above) and list four others in the museums at Copenhagen, Sofia, Warsaw and Leningrad. All seem to have the same unique obverse legend and of similar style and fabric.

(Nero or later), Germania Superior, early period of Nero (A.D. 54-68), (9.47 grams), AE as with countermarks of TI AV (AV ligated) within a separate square on an Agrippa AE as of c.40 A.D. from Rome mint, (Martini, No.42, Pangerl Collection of Countermarked Imperial coins type 54 only one noted to carry this countermark {54g}], host coin RIC 58 [p.112]); another countermarked for Pannonia (7.76 grams) in the period of Gaius and Claudius (c.37-54 A.D.) and maybe early into the reign of Nero, AE dupondius of Augustus an issue of Q. Aelius Lamia issued 18-17 B.C., with countermark of CAE (Caesar) and PP (Pater Patriae) (both in oval), (Martini, No 37, Pangerl Collection of Countermarked Imperial coins type 77 and 81, host coin, RIC 324). Countermarks, fine - very fine, host coin fair - nearly fine and both very rare. (2)

$150

Martini notes for the first coin the countermarked letters which he believes to mean TI AV (Titus? Augustus with some hoard evidence suggesting period 79-83 A.D.), but because of uniformity of overstriking on Gaius and Claudius period issues it also may suggest much earlier during the reign of Nero. Martini suggests the countermark may be imitative. It was in a Germania area that this countermark was applied to circulating worn coinage. The Pangerl collection contained one example only on an Agrippa as. The second coin is an issue of Augustus c.18-17 B.C. but is not listed for this magistrate on a dupondius with these countermarks, but both countermarks occur on other dupondii. The two countermarks are reported on only one example in the Pangerl collection.

Julia Paula, (wife of Elagabalus), (A.D. 219), silver denarius, (2.516 grams), obv. draped bust of Julia Paula to right, around IVLIA PAVLA AVG, rev. Female (Pax) standing to left holding baton (or branch) and sceptre, around P M TR P II COS P P, (S.-, RIC -, RSC.-). Appears to be plated, otherwise very fine, unpublished and probably unique, being a reverse relevant for Elagabalus but used for his second wife Julia Paula.

$200

A most interesting reverse for Julia Paula. It was probably based on a unpublished reverse type of Elagabalus although the Imperial titles are not consistent for Elagabalus and the reverse appears unknown for this ruler. Such a reverse would never be used by a wife of a ruler and could only occur by mixing of dies (known for some rulers and issues). We believe it to be an ancient plated forgery made from two incompatable dies of excellent style.

In hoc signo vinces is the Latin transparent translation of the Greek phrase meaning "in this sign you will conquer". According to legend, Constantine I adopted this Greek phrase, as a motto after his vision of a "chi rho" in the sky just before the Battle of Milvian Bridge against Maxentius in the year 312. The early Christian symbol consists in a cross formed by the Greek letters chi and rho, the first two letters in the name Christ (used on the labarum or standard of the above coin). The historian Eusebius states that Constantine was marching with his army (Eusebius doesn't specify the actual location of the event, but it's clearly not in the camp at Rome), when he looked up to the sun and saw a cross of light above it, and with it the Greek words meaning ("in this, be victorious!", often rendered in Latin as "In hoc signo vinces" as used on the above coin). At first, Constantine didn't know the meaning of the apparition, but in the following night, he had a dream in which Christ explained to him that he should use the sign against his enemies. Eusebius then continues to describe the Labarum, the military standard used by Constantine in his later wars against Licinius, showing the Chi-Rho sign. Its use of the above legend and standard by Vetranio (and also by Constantius II) is an echo of the experience of Constantine.

Herrli, Hans, The Coins of the Sikhs, Indian Coin Society, 1st edition, 1993, 255 pages + 418 line arts + 5 maps. Hard covers. As new. (5) $80

The book is a pioneering comprehensive effort in study of Sikh coins. It gives detailed history of Sikhs and varied coins issued by them from various mints. This is further appended by General Taylor report on coinage of the Phulkian States, medals and tokens and European travelers and adventurers in Ranjit Singh's empire. The Sikh coinage started in the second half of the eighteenth century, reached its apogee during the rule of Maharaja Ranjit Singh and ended abruptly with the annexation of the Punjab by the British in 1849. Although the Sikhs struck coins in about 20 mints, there coinage remained quite uniform until the end. Their rupees bear religious legends and never mention their issuer, but Amritsar, their main economic and religious center, produced the most complex system of mintmarks in modern India. Early observes were often baffled by the first major non-Mughal coinage of Northern India and their descriptions of Sikh coins are commonly full of errors, errors that have all too often survived until today. In a first part the present book gives a short historical introduction and a general survey of the Sikh coinage. The second part consists of an illustrated catalogue of all the actually known Sikh coin types arranged by mints. Several appendices offer a brief survey of Sikh tokens and medals and a few important numismatic texts. This book is not only intended as a useful tool for coin collectors, but also as a source of material for historians and students of the economy of the Sikh Empire.

$3,500

Together with an article on the famous Charge at Ombdurman by the 21st Lancers written by Ian McInnes and published in The Medal Box magazine. Contained in the article is a previously unpublished roll for the Sudan showing those who served at Omdurman. In this article Pte H Jones is listed without a Lancers' regimental number, which would be the case if he was attached to the unit. This is as indicated by the naming on the medal offered here for sale. Pte H Jones is recorded as serving in B Squadron which was commanded by Major John Fowle. Of the four squadrons present, B Squadron received two Victoria Crosses and had 10 men killed with 24 wounded, a total of 34 casualties. This was more casualties than the other three units combined.

Michael Terry migrated to Australia and became one of its best-known modern explorers. In 1933 he discovered Hidden Basin which contains two salt water lakes about 800 kilometres north-west of Alice Springs. He also authored many articles and books, best known are Across Unknown Australia and Sands and Sun. During WWI he served with the Royal Naval Air Service in Russia, was captured by the Russians, and with others was lined up before a firing squad only to be saved by a British officer who was able to talk the executioners out of it. Together with a civilian I.D. disc for Michael Terry, a RSL badge 1965, a NES New South Wales badge as well as research. Note the incorrect reference to the D.C.M. 16. Photo album containing various newspaper articles relating to Jackson and one in particular, dated 16th October 1918, shows a photo of Jackson on a stage with an Army officer where he is helping raise money for Dependents' Day. In the background is a large sign bearing the name Private Jackson V.C., D.C.M. Another incorrect reference to the D.C.M. Also in the album is an Australia Post stamp pack issued in 2000 to commemorate the centenary of the first awarding of the Victoria Cross to a serving Australian.

Recommendation for Victoria Cross by G.O.C. 5th Australian Infantry Brigade dated 18th July 1916, "For his gallantry on the night of 25/26th June, 1916, in rescuing wounded men under fire. While returning from a successful raid on the German trenches, South of Armentieres, several members of the Raiding Party were seriously wounded in NO MAN'S LAND by hostile shell fire. Private Jackson returned safely to our lines through a most intense barrage of shrapnel, H.S. and crossed Machine Gun fire, escorting a prisoner. Hearing that some of his party had been hit, Private Jackson handed his prisoner over and immediately returned into NO MAN'S LAND into the enemy's barrage and assisted in bringing in a wounded man. He then went out again, notwithstanding the fact that the hostile bombardment was more intense than ever, and with Sgt. Camden, 19th Battalion, A.I.F., was bringing in Pte. Robinson (who was seriously wounded) when a shell exploded close by. Private Jackson's right arm was blown off above the elbow, Robinson was wounded again and Sgt. Camden knocked unconscious. As Jackson could not do anything by himself, he returned to our trenches, obtained assistance and went out again to search for his two comrades. They were however, met just outside our trenches. Private Jackson's condition was serious; but throughout he showed wonderful fortitude. His work with the Raiding Party as a Scout and also with his battalion in the same capacity has always been of the highest order marked with the greatest coolness dash and bravery." Citation for Victoria Cross, "For most conspicuous bravery. On the return from a successful raid, Private Jackson came back safely, handed over two prisoners he had brought back and immediately went out again. He was bringing in a wounded Sergeant when his right arm was blown off by a shell, and the Sergeant rendered unconscious. Returning to our trenches he obtained assistance and went out again to look for his wounded comrade. He set a splendid example of pluck and determination and his work has always been marked by the greatest coolness and bravery." First Supplement No. 29740 to the London Gazette of 8th September 1916; Commonwealth of Australia Gazette No. 184 14th December 1916."

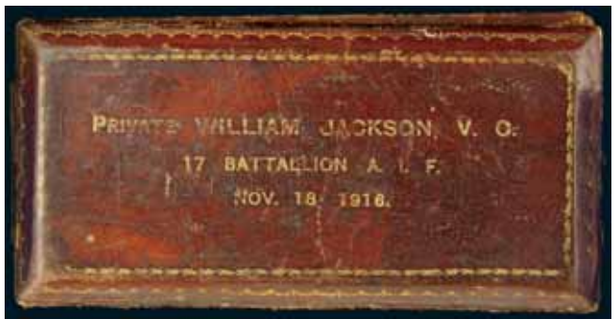

In the book "They Dared Mightily", edited by Lionel Wigmore, the action for which Private Jackson was awarded the Victoria Cross is described as follows, "This raid was one of a number conducted in the Armentieres sector, as part of a programme of harassing enterprises against the enemy lines. They were begun after the preparatory artillery barrage for the Somme battle had commenced, and continued until after the commencement of the infantry attack. On this occasion - the night of 25th-26th June - the raiders consisted of nine officers and seventy-three other ranks, all volunteers from the 5th Brigade. Captain K.Heritage, 19th Battalion, was O.C. The raiders found themselves confronted by a deep ditch protected by wire. Machine-gun fire was continually sweeping over them, but by keeping low they avoided it. The troops managed to cross the ditch by a foot-bridge leading to an enemy listening post. Soon after, most were actually in the German trenches, whose garrison had taken shelter in dug-outs from the covering barrage. Only token resistance was offered, and it was soon overcome. Engineers with the party got to work and blew up two bomb-stores. Withdrawing some five minutes later, the enemy brought down artillery fire on No Man's Land and casualties began to occur. The Germans also organised a counter attack, and two minutes after the raiders had left could be heard bombing their way back along their own trench. It was after the return of Jackson with his prisoner that he insisted on returning to bring in one of the thirteen casualties sustained on the way back. This done, he set off to bring in another. Although terribly wounded in this unsuccesful attempt he returned, got the assistance he needed, and went out for the fourth time, to search for the sergeant and the wounded man they had been helping in. Only sheer will-power carried him through the last expedition, but he had the satisfaction of escorting to safety one of the men concerned. His arm, which had been hanging only by some loose tissue, had to be amputated."

William Jackson was born, John William Alexander Jackson, on 13th September 1897 at Gunbar, near Hay in New South Wales. His father's first name was also John so it is understandable that he became known as William or Bill. A farm labourer, he put his age up by one year when he enlisted on 15 February 1915 under the name William Jackson and was posted to B Coy, 17th Battalion, 5th Infantry Brigade. After a stint fighting on Gallipoli he was hospitalised with dysentery. Upon recovery he rejoined his unit which moved to serve in France on the Western Front. It was for his gallant actions here that he was awarded the Victoria Cross at the age of 18. Thus he became the youngest Australian to be so honoured and when he returned to Australia, reaching New South Wales on 5th July 1917, he became the first WWI Victoria Cross recipient to return and accordingly received a huge reception both at Sydney and also at his hometown of Gunbar.

Confusion surrounded Jackson's award as he was originally awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal. This was cancelled when his award was upgraded to the Victoria Cross. Unfortunately, the advice of the D.C.M. was sent to his father in Australia and additionally, the D.C.M. was promulgated after the V.C. was announced and later it was cancelled in the London Gazette of 20th October 1916. Unfortunately a letter dated 4 January 1917 from Base Records Office, A.I.F. to Jackson's father states, "I have much pleasure in forwarding herwith copy of extract from First Supplement No. 29760 to the London Gazette of 22nd September, 1916, relating to the conspicuous services rendered by your son, No. 588, Private W.Jackson, 17th Battalion. Awarded The Distinguished Conduct Medal. 'His Majesty The King has been graciously pleased to approve of the award of the Distinguished Conduct Medal to the undermentioned soldier for acts of gallantry and devotion to duty in the field:- No. 588, Private William Jackson, For conspicuous gallantry. After a successful raid he escorted back a prisoner and immediately returned to 'No Man's Land' under heavy fire, and assisted in bringing in a wounded man. On going out again his arm was blown off by a shell while he was bringing in a second wounded man, but even after this he continued to assist in the rescue of other wounded. His work as a scout has always been marked by the greatest pluck.' The above has been promulgated in Commonwealth of Australia Gazette, No.184, of 14th December, 1916." The cancellation of the award in favour of the Victoria Cross appeared in Military Order No. 288/60/1917. Base Records wrote to Mr Jackson senior on 14 April 1919 advising that the award of the D.C.M. had been overidden by the V.C. and asked him to return the notification dated 4 January 1917 however he replied that his son had it and he did not know where to contact him as he had moved. As nobody told Jackson of the cancellation he wore the D.C.M. right up until at least 1942 and he is recorded in numerous newspaper articles and even in Who's Who as a recipient of the V.C. and also the D.C.M. Confusion about his actual award entitlement even prompted the Australian War Memorial to write to Central Army Records Office in October 1964 requesting clarification as to whether he had been awarded the D.C.M. and M.M. as well as the V.C. It was also reported in the Sabretache Journal of the Military Historical Society of Australia Vol XLV No. 2 June 2004 that on 11 November 2001 a plaque in honour of Jackson was unveiled in Balmain which attributes him with V.C., D.C.M., M.M. As already stated above, in item 11, the official Royal document awarding him the Coronation Medal records his awards as V.C., M.M. Apparently the whole issue of the D.C.M came to a head while Jackson was serving in WWII and he was asked to stop wearing the D.C.M. and return it to the Army. This did not sit well with him and on 30th January 1942 he wrote to Base Records in Canberra. In part the letter sent from his posting at Military Police Depot, Surry Hills, states, "I have no knowledge of any letter having been forwarded to my father, dated 14.4.1919, asking him to return the notification sent to him concerning the award of the D.C.M. nor have I any knowledge of any such decoration having been cancelled. The award was made in early 1916 (June). I have the official gazette of same and also the medal itself. I have my old pay book in which it is entered, together with other decorations. Further, it is entered on my old discharge. I have been paid for it. Still, it took some Department from early 1916 till April 1919 before it wrote my father, informimg him of cancelleation of the decoration. I have worn all my medals, including the D.C.M. on many occasions since 1916 until now, and this is the first time the right to wear any of my decorations has ever been challenged. If your statement is correct, it appears as if some person or persons have 'slipped' and 'slipped' badly. I am a soldier at the present time at the above address. I will not discontinue wearing any of my ribbons, which number six. I would much prefer to apply for my discharge and have the whole matter settled in Court. As a matter of fact, I have it in the hands of my solicitor already." It seems that the matter was resolved in a fashion because Jackson re-enlisted three weeks after discharging and a letter from Base Records on 9th January 1943 advised that Jackson might surrender the decoration if the facts were explained to him however "if he is not so inclined" then it was not considered desirable to order him to do so.

The Victoria Cross is the most prized and respected of all Imperial decorations. This lot presents a chance to acquire one of the few remaining V.C.s to an Australian still in private hands. Even rarer and in fact unique is this offering of a V.C. to the youngest ever Australian to be so recognised. Accompanied by research papers confirming all of the aforementioned facts.

Lieutenant William Edward Young, NX76322, 2/3rd Australian Infantry Battalion. Military Cross citation: 'At Gona on 24 and 25 November 1942, Lt Young led a patrol on the right flank of the enemy positions, guided another patrol and finally guided his Company in an assault against prepared enemy positions. During the first patrol, Lt Young shot two of the enemy and in the second patrol of the following day, he courageously moved forward with a leading scout to draw fire and thus locate enemy weapons and in the assault on the same day, continued to give directions to his Company commander after receiving multiple wounds in his legs. His sustained coolness and bravery was a fine example to his men. Lt Young exhibited the same quality of leadership in action at Templeton's Crossing on 18 October 1942 and at Divi from 5 to 11 November 1942. (L.G. 22 April 1943, p.1847). Lt-Col Stanley Llewellyn Perry D.S.O., M.C., M.I.D. left Australia with 13th Battalion in 1914 and participated in the landing on Gallipoli. He saw service in Egypt and France and at all times showed great tactical skill and unfailing resource in handling the Unit under his command. He left Australia as a 2nd Lieutenant and by his untiring energy and devotion to duty rose to the rank of Lt Col, Commanding Officer 48th battalion, A.I.F. He was awarded the Military Cross for conspicuous bravery in France on 14th August 1916 with 45th Battalion and the Distinguished Service Order for gallant conduct during the advance of his battalion, the 48th, to the capture of the Blue Line west of Proyart. Despite being wounded in the advance he continued to command and control the final capture. Three times recommended for Mention in Despatches, the first for exceptionally good work at Bullecourt in April 1917 and Messines June 1917. With research for the awards.

9 June 1976.

Dear Sir,

The 1930 Penny, made available by you for examination, has been checked in our Laboratory.

The reverse matches in all respects the significant features of the Penny in our collection, whilst the obverse similarly matches George V obverses of the so-called "English" type.

We can find no trace of post-coining work on your coin, and conclude that it is a genuine variety of the 1930 Penny.

Your coin is herewith returned, with thanks, and the usual examination fees waived, in appreciation of the opportunity of examining your coin.

Yours faithfully,

(J. B. JOSLIN)
Controller of the Mint
